College Magazine

Policy

- To be creative with own ideas for articles, poems, and artwork.
- To discourage Plagiarism strictly.
- To represent various interests and talents of the contributors in the magazine.
- To produce a magazine that represents the Josephite Community annually.

Practices

- The college magazine encourages students to create a sense of devotion to the institution, to feel proud of their many accomplishments, and to uphold the highest standards of behaviour.
- The articles, poems, drawings focus on positive stories, achievements, and experiences on a particular theme every year to inspire and uplift our readers.
- It is instructed to use respectful language and avoid anything that could hurt or offend someone.
- The members of the editorial board gather institutional accomplishments and articles.
- The editorial board examines the articles' veracity and makes changes and alterations as necessary.
- The magazine emphasises the similarity of ideas in the articles while providing a thorough overview, representing the college's theme.
- The magazine includes a variety of essays, poems, and arts that were mostly authored by students, with a few contributions from professors.
- In the form of an annual report, the magazine will emphasise the honours and accomplishments that the institution received in a given year.
- The publication looks at the extracurricular and academic activities of the college to encourage students to get involved in all of them proactively for their personal development.

Outcomes

- The College magazine, with its very own title, is the ideal combination for fostering creativity and celebrating success in all endeavours.
- The College magazine highlights the unique accomplishments of the faculty, staff, and students in the areas of academics, co-curricular activities, extracurricular activities, sports, and other activities.
- The young authors of the journal are entitled to the chance to publish their original works for a broad audience.
- The editorial independence allows for authenticity in the articles and the greatest possible presentation of all events and accomplishments.
- The Annual publication of the journal provides readers with knowledge and inspiration by providing a thorough examination of academic accomplishment in all fields.
- Presenting an honest portrayal of the college, the journal invites a wide range of readers, including alumni, teaching and non-teaching staff.
- The copy of the college magazine serves as the Alma Mater's remembrance of the College Days.
