Policy

- To serve as the college's academic division, with parents and teachers as its prominent members.
- To play a significant role in the college.
- To strengthen connections between home and campus.
- Act as a spokesperson for our pupils.
- To serve as a discussion forum for parents, teachers, students, and administrators.
- To foster a meaningful and healthy community.

Practices

- PTA meetings are held at the end of each semester. Parents are invited to attend the meeting.
- The meetings are scheduled with parents' general convenience in mind. The planned dates are made public far in advance to allow enough time for parents and instructors to gather and converse in a comfortable setting.
- The department head delivers a general talk with the parents. The gathering offers their comments on how the college and department operate.
- The tutor of the student has a one-on-one meeting with parents.
- Students' academic performance, such as attendance, passing of exams, and participation in co-curricular and extracurricular activities, will be discussed individually.
- General guidance is given to parents so that their ward can lead a healthy college life.
- The parents' socio-economic background is essential to understand the student's mental well-being better.

Outcomes:

- Parents are actively involved in college life and feel welcomed, valued, and connected to faculty and students in classrooms to learn and do.
- Effective Communication - Parents and college teachers regularly communicate two-way and meaningfully about student learning.

- Parents and teachers work together to support students' learning and healthy development at college and at home.
- Advocacy for every student - Parents have the right to advocate for their parish and ensure that students are treated fairly and have access to learning opportunities that support their success.
- The educational institution provides financial support to students based on the information received from their parents about their economic background.
- Financial aid offered by college helps the poor students to continue their studies easily and reliably.
- PTA collaborates with community members to connect students, parents, and teachers to a broader learning experience, community services.
